An Image & Reflection: Hope & God's Love

By Clem O'Connor

See image below

Captured this wonderful image of light shining down unto the sky. God's light. Coming into our hearts during this tough time. He is showering his love down on this Earth and telling us we are loved and never alone. Showing us that the light shines brighter than the darkness. Telling us there's light at the end of the tunnel. The way we'll get through this is by looking for the joy in the day and searching for the light in the night. Have hope and know that you there's something that never changes, and that's God's love for us. His love is constant and it's a love like no other. Sharing a smile with your neighbors and somebody you're walking past is also a great way to share some joy with others. God Bless you Always, Clem.
